LEWIS REFUSES TO TAKE PART IN MINE PARLEY

War Labor Board Continues Negotiations with Miners Absent.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 25—The War Labor board planned ahead today on plans to set up a fact-finding three-man panel to hear the coal wage dispute despite the refusal by John L. Lewis president of the United Mine Workers, to name a labor member to it.

Reports of strike outbreaks have been reported from various parts of the Appalachian field Union-ite officials reported 6,000 miners out of work in that area. Some of the company "captive" mines in the area also went down.

The board was expected to announce its selections today of persons to represent the public, industry and labor on the panel. A full board meeting is scheduled for tomorrow and hearings on the dispute itself are to start Wednesday, the day after a meeting of the WLB policy committee in New York.

UMW Chief Has No Intention of Acting

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, April 26—John L. Lewis president of the United Mine Workers, declined today an invitation of the war labor board to nominate a labor member to a three-man WLB panel which will hold hearings on the wage dispute between the union and soft coal mine operators.

E. C. Adams, press representative for Lewis, said at 9:30 a. m. (EWT)—deadline time for the WLB invitation—that Lewis had no intention of accepting the invitation.

The WLB had let it be known that if Lewis failed to submit nominations it would set up the full panel and proceed with the case but on condition that there be no interruption in the production of coal.

Operators Respond

Operators' negotiators, representing both northern and southern Appalachian bituminous regions, responded to the WLB's summons and attended a preliminary hearing Saturday. Lewis turned down the summons and offered no explanation.

Adams said that Lewis would make no official statement until after his international policy committee of 225 men held a meeting at 2 p. m. tomorrow.

"At that time there will be a statement with an explanation," he added.

A union spokesman asserted "we are not calling any strike now. If the mines cease operations after expiration of the contract (the old contract expired March 31) but was extended 30 days) it is the result of the miners' resentment over the conference of the little steel formula as a yardstick measurement of granting wage awards as well as failure of the administration to police OPA prices and wages to guarantee any future cost of living controls."

Adams declared that so far as the UMW was concerned, with the northern Appalachian region, the contract expired when the coal operators left the negotiating table.

Fire Prevention Campaign In Marion Spotlight Tomorrow

Inspection Tour, Citywide Luncheon Meeting To Be on Program.

Tuesday will be Fire Prevention day in Marion.

Between 40 and 50 inspectors of the Fire Prevention Association of Ohio will canvass in Marion to conduct the first citywide inspection since 1935. It will be conducted with the cooperation of city officials and Marion insurance agents.

The inspectors will be accompanied on the tour by 20 city firemen and 20 Boy Scouts. The inspection will cover the mercantile section, offices churches schools, hospitals and public buildings. It will not extend into homes or factory buildings.

At noon the inspectors will meet with members of five Marion organizations for a luncheon at the Masonic temple.

Chicago Speaker

Richard E. Vernor of Chicago, manager of the fire prevention department of the Western Actuarial Bureau, will be the guest speaker. Mr. Vernor, considered an expert of fire prevention, is president of the Chicago Safety Council and past director of Rotary International. He supervises the work of fire prevention associations in 19 midwestern states.

Members of Rotary, Kiwanis, Lions, Altrusa, Marion insurance agents and the Chamber of Commerce will join the inspectors at the luncheon.

D. E. Tanner, chairman, and Wilson Lively, assistant chairman, both of Columbus, have been in charge of local arrangements, working with the Chamber of Commerce.

While on their tour the inspectors will take notes of conditions as they find them and a written report will be submitted to the owner or tenant of the building, making specific recommendations for fire prevention. These inspections will not affect fire insurance rates but are designed to help prevent fires.

Talks In Schools

Short talks will be given in the schools and the pupils will be furnished with blanks to be used for home inspections. The blanks are to be filled in by the pupils and returned.

The inspectors ask that all churches be open for the tour on Tuesday.

Two radio programs have been arranged for the day, one at 9:15 a. m. and the other at 2:45 p. m.

R. A. Anderson, chairman of the Marion Chamber of Commerce fire prevention committee, will be general chairman of the day's events.

Marion Co. War Bond Drive Total

Goal	$2,533,000.00
Saturday's Sales	$ 245,086.75
Pledged To Date	$2,420,621.75
Yet To Be Raised	$ 112,378.25

National drive for total of 13 billion dollars to continue until May 1.

BOND GOAL IN COUNTY NEAR

Saturday Sales Send Total Within $112,378 of Mark.

Marion county's campaign in the Second War Loan drew within $112,378.25 of its $2,533,000 goal today when reports of sales over the week-end had been tallied.

Saturday sales of $245,086.75 boosted the total sales to date to $2,420,621.75 and renewed the confidence of campaign workers that they would be able to reach the goal by the time the drive ends Friday night.

However, public purchases, exclusive of banks, must amount to $88,379 by Friday night if the job is to be done in the manner desired by the late Fred E. Guthery, stricken in the midst of his chairmanship of the campaign.

He wanted the drive to go over 100 per cent in every department, and that would mean raising $1,634,000 from the public and $899,000 from the banks. The banks already have purchased $873,000 in issues offered during the campaign, and are more than assured of reaching their quota by the time the drive ends.

The public purchases to date amount to $1,545,621, or $88,379 short of the $1,634,000 public goal. Drive workers renewed their efforts today to meet this figure by Friday.

"Allied air forces accounted for another 526 enemy planes destroyed on the ground.

Land-based aircraft also sank 11 U-boats."

It said that axis shipping losses did not include theses inflicted by the royal navy.

"The losses in enemy bottoms now listed as authentically sunk during the same period include eight merchant vessels, two tankers, two barges, 11 fleet submarines, two destroyers, one cruiser and eight vessels of unidentified types," the statement said.

Listed as severely damaged were 59 ships and as just "damaged" were 55 others.

U. S. MANPOWER HEADS OF AREA MEETING HERE

Acute Shortages of Help To Develop This Year WMC Representatives Told.

Manpower problems, becoming progressively more acute as the war progresses, were placed in figures that spelled difficulty for all industries when WMC, labor and federal employment officials of central and southeastern Ohio gathered in Marion this morning to begin a two-day conference.

The Marion meeting is designed primarily to show WMC and employment office managers in communities throughout this part of the state how best to meet the problems that seem certain to develop, but there also were important suggestions for all employers. One of the themes of this morning's session was that government manpower controls are being held in abeyance as much as possible to give industries and local communities a chance to solve their problems voluntarily. The controls are necessary only when employers neglect to take steps to anticipate the problems that will arise before this year ends.

Some idea of the manpower problem on a national scale was furnished by J. Kimball Johnson of the regional War Manpower Commission office at Cleveland, who presided at the opening session.

Situation Summarized

He started with the announcement that the nation has 22,000,000 men between the ages of 18 and 38. Of these approximately 8,000,000 have been or will be disqualified for military service at the induction stations, leaving 14,000,000. From this he deducted 1,500,000 essential agricultural workers who have or will be deferred, leaving 12,500,000 as the potential manpower from which an army of 11,000,000 is to be drawn by the end of this year. The armed services already have millions of men, but it is expected 3,500,000 more will be called by the end of the year which would round out the 11,000,000 figure, he said.

Translating these figures into industrial manpower terms, he pointed out that the nation has in sight for 1943 only about 1,500,000 men in the 18 to 38 age range to be left to industry—and replacements for casualties in the war must also come from this group.

It seems Mr. Johnson pointed out, that nearly every male person between the age of 18 and 38 who is physically qualified must anticipate military service. Emphasizing that the armed services must be served first, he urged employers who have been granted limited occupational deferments for some of their essential workers to plan now to replace the workers rather than hope for further deferments. The situation also will require full utilization of the remaining local labor supply, including minority groups, women, young workers, those with physical handicaps and anyone else who can contribute to the war effort. Training of such persons to replace essential workers, voluntary adoption of the 48-hour work week, which is a national objective, are some of the means employers must use to release additional man hours and increase production, he emphasized.

Only Path Open

Full use of the available local labor supply is virtually the only avenue open to employers as they plan for the manpower problems of the coming months, it was pointed out. Mass immigration of workers presents both housing and transportation problems difficult to solve. The WMC more and more is urging local communities to use what labor re-

SOVIET BREAKS WITH POLAND

Slaying Charge Disagreement Brings Rupture in Ranks of Allied Nations.

By The Associated Press

MOSCOW, April 26 — Soviet Russia severed relations with the Polish government in exile yesterday, accusing it of being in league with the Germans in carrying out a "hostile campaign" against the Soviet Union in connection with German charges that the Russians killed 10,000 Polish officers near Smolensk.

Foreign Commissar Molotov handed the Polish ambassador a bitter note, denouncing the Polish government, the news agency Tass reported. It charged the Poles with carrying on a hostile campaign against the Soviet Union along the same lines as the recent German propaganda diatribe accusing the Russians of murdering 10,000 Polish officers near Smolensk. The Russian note flatly charged that the Germans had killed the Polish officers.

"The Polish government, to please Hitler's tyranny, deals a treacherous blow to the Soviet Union," Molotov's note said, "the Soviet government is aware that this hostile campaign against the Soviet Union was undertaken by the Polish government in order to exert pressure for the purpose of arresting from it the territorial concessions at the expense of the interests of the Soviet Ukraine, Soviet Byelo-Russia and Soviet Lithuania.

"All these circumstances compel the Soviet government to recognize that the government of Poland having clid to the path of accord with Hitlerite government actually have di continued allied relations with the U.S.S.R. and adopted a hostile attitude toward the Soviet Union. On the strength of all above, the Soviet government has decided to sever relations with the Polish government.

"Please accept, Mr. Ambassador, assurance of my high esteem, Molotov."

The note said the Russian government "considers the recent behavior of the Polish government as entirely abnormal and violating all regulations and standards of relations."

RICHWOOD AUCTION TOTALS $10,000 IN BONDS

Lions Club Sponsors Sale of Livestock.

Special to The Star

RICHWOOD, April 26 — Approximately $10,000 worth of war savings bonds were sold in a bond auction conducted Saturday afternoon and evening at Richwood under the direction of the Richwood Lions' club, Ohio's largest small-town Lions group.

John Pfarr Jr., a member of the club and auctioneer for the sale, reported today about 100 head of livestock, a large amount of poultry, approximately 200 piece of farm machinery, 1,000 bushels of grain and several lots of household goods were sold. Owners of the material, instead of receiving cash, received war bonds and stamps, Mr. Pfarr said.

Highlight of the auction, which started at 1 p. m. and ended at 10:30 p. m., was the sale of a mule. About $2,000 in bonds was sold on the animal which was not limited by the final bidder.

As many as 2,000 persons witnessed the auction at one time, Pfarr estimated.

Navy Denies Carrier Ranger Sunk by Sub

EASTER RITES FILL CHURCHES

Wartime Services Attended by Americans at Home and in Other Lands.

Yesterday's second wartime Easter found churches in Marion and in all parts of the Christian world overflowing with worshipers, and streets colorful with the bright raiment of the Easter parades. The weatherman cooperated by providing "sunshine and warmth" and a spring rain held off until evening.

Accent was on flowers for the feminine parades and many junior misses wore miniatures of the corsages adorning the shoulders of their elders. Olive drab and navy blue were popular colors in men's wear and men of the armed forces, home on leave and furlough, saw themselves mirrored in the juvenile captains and lieutenants stepping along alone and in pairs or escorting their mothers churchward.

Churches in Marion had capacity attendance and some reported worshippers had to be turned away because of lack of space.

AUTO INJURIES KILL WYANDOT CO. YOUTH

Richard Kuenzli, 21, Dies in City Hospital.

Richard Kuenzli, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton D. Kuenzli of [illegible] miles east of Upper Sandusky, died at 1 a. m. today in City hospital from injuries suffered in an automobile accident about 11 p. m. Saturday a mile south of Wyandot.

The accident is believed to have occurred as Kuenzli was returning home from the Marion Engineers Depot where he was employed as a crane operator. According to the state highway patrol which investigated the accident, Kuenzli's auto careened from the road in making a curve a short distance from the village of Wyandot. The auto crashed through a fence on the Bert Veley farm and rolled over five or six times, before coming to a stop about 150 feet from the road.

Passing motorists, informed of the crash Sunday, reported seeing lights in the field about 9 p. m. but believed them to be lights of a farm truck. He was discovered shortly after midnight by Gerald Schaeffer, a farmer living nearby who was awakened by moaning of Kuenzli. Investigating the sounds, Schaeffer found Kuenzli unconscious inside the auto.

He was immediately removed and Charles Cover of Wyandot brought him to the City hospital here.

The attending physician reported that Kuenzli suffered a possible skull fracture, internal injuries, severe shock and terminal pneumonia from exposure.

Surviving besides the parents are two brothers, Davert of Upper Sandusky and Creston, who is stationed at the Great Lakes, Ill., naval training station.

YIELD STRONG HILL POSITIONS TO AMERICANS

Report Germans Concentrating Armored Units Against British First Army.

By The Associated Press

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, April 26 — The Germans were reported in retreat today on the American-mauled northern wing of the Tunisian front, after yielding mountain stronghold at the southern end of their abbreviated west wall with little resistance and concentrating armored strength against tank-supported blows by the British first army at their center.

Even as a field dispatch said that the Germans had begun withdrawing from positions before the Second U. S. Army corps this morning, headquarters announced that the French 19th army corps, serving as the "hinge" between the British First and Eighth armies, had won five mountains without heavy opposition and wiped out a German salient that had poked dangerously into allied lines.

A military spokesman said Col. Gen. Jurgen Von Arnim was known definitely to have committed most of his armor to "fight it out" against British tanks which penetrated the narrow plain east of Goubellat between the French and American sectors.

"This is a vital area," the spokesman said.

(The possibility of a British breakthrough in the Goubellat sector, which would slash a path between the Tunis-Bizerte area and the Axis secondary southern defense line based at Pont Du Fahs, Zaghouan and Bou Ficha may have influenced Von Arnim to order withdrawals on the flanks while he yet had the power for a delaying action.)

U. S. Troops Advance

Even before news of the Nazi retreat was received, advanced elements of the Second U. S. Army corps had reached a line three miles east of Sidi N'Sir and only about 10 miles southwest of Mateur, a junction from which highways lead to both Tunis and Bizerte.

In a companion action to the north, other Americans captured an important hill called the Djebel Nechel El Mazi nine miles northeast of Sedjenane and 30 miles southwest of Bizerte, this in an advance slowed both by heavy enemy action and difficult terrain.

All forces of Gen. Sir Alexander's 8th army group were declared in the communique to have "continued their steady progress on all sectors" with powerful air support yesterday.

Algerian and Moroccan divisions of the 19th French army corps made a general advance on its mountain lines to occupy the five important hills, the Djebel Manaour—capture of which was reported yesterday, and the Djebels Ariogu El Hanech, Bou Kria, Menassir and Edjebel.

The Germans still hold the northern end of the grand dorsal but the withdrawal from the five hills eliminates a strong hedgehog formation.

Take More Prisoners

The Eighth army took 50 prisoners in mopping up Djebel Terhouna, five miles northwest of Enfidaville. The overrunning of this position had been reported unofficially earlier.

French forces, after driving the Germans from Djebel Manaour, 10 miles southwest of Pont Du Fahs, captured new important heights, the communique said. (An Algiers radio broadcast recorded by The Associated Press said the French had broken through mountains guarding the Tunis plain.

(The Algiers radio said also that 64 German tanks had been knocked out in the last 72 hours. The report said the German African corps had thrown its main tank reserves into the battle yes-

6,000 Miners Idle As Strike Spreads in Pennsylvania Area

By The Associated Press

PITTSBURGH, April 26—An estimated 6,000 miners protesting [illegible] of their wage dispute with the war labor board, were idled today as strikes spread in the bituminous southwestern Pennsylvania coal fields.

Most mines struck were owned by the Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp. The United Mine Workers union, whose district officers ordered all the walkouts, [illegible] said pickets also kept some men away from two other mines, operated by the H. C. Frick Coke Co. and the Pittsburgh Coal Co., the nation's second largest producer.

Meanwhile, an official of the Castle Shannon Coal Co., who asked that his name not be used, said his company was experiencing "a lot of absenteeism" and "it looks like there is a deliberate slowdown among miners remaining at work."

The men working are not putting out the coal," he declared, estimating the company's production was off 15 per cent.

"Industry is screaming for coal and we can't get it out of the ground. We have a committee ringing doorbells to find out why miners aren't reporting for work."

Blame Unrest

The official blamed the production drop on "unrest and the fears of men that they won't get their wage increase."

Other coal operators, such as Pittsburgh Coal, said absenteeism "is little over normal" today was

Marion Fighter Pilot In "All-U. S." Raids On Nazis

A Marion fighter pilot is helping stage some of the first "100 per cent American" raids from England over occupied Europe, The Associated Press reported today in a news dispatch from a U. S. Fighter Station in England.

He is Capt. Donald D. Renwick, who has been in the Army air force since April of 1941.

The fact that American fighter squadrons are now flying their own planes from their own bases and under complete direction of American personnel was the subject of a feature story written for The Associated Press by Vladimir Pisk, a war correspondent.

Text of Dispatch

In addition to mentioning Capt. Renwick as one of the pilots in one of the all-American squadrons, the dispatch reported the following:

"Almost daily the boys pile out of their quarters, get briefed in a hunt by American officers, climb into their planes and streak several hundred miles over the land and ocean, zooming around the enemy skies challenging all comers.

"Although the air ministry announced two fighters were lost participating in a combined sweep over France April 15, these purely American sorties have not yet produced spectacular tangles with the enemy.

"The German seem to want to save their fighter strength to concentrate against allied bombers.

"A few Focke-Wulfs seemed to be looking for trouble and Lieut. Col. Robert Zemke, Minneapolis, Minn., young group commander, as he topped from his

Bombing of Ohio Cities Predicted This Summer

State Defense Director Declares This Area Considered Prime Target for Axis Bombers.

... of these articles of ... the first State Director ... Ralph H. Stone ... America and Ohio ... ably will be bombed ... this spring and sum... must realize the ... and be ready ... mentality.

RALPH H. STONE
Ohio State Council of Defense.

(Written for The Associated Press)

COLUMBUS, O., April 26—To ... raising morale at home ... like a spectacular touch ... to the Nazi war effort, Hitler undoubtedly will endeavor to bomb American cities this spring and summer.

This opinion is shared by many high officials of the Army and civilian defense authorities in Washington, and every man, woman and child must reorganize the danger and be ready to cope with any emergency.

Basis of Belief

My belief is based on the following reasons, which coincide with recent expressions of Army officials:

1. The axis is anxious to retaliate and strike back at the United States for successfully employing its planes in bombing forays in Africa, Germany, Italy and Japan.

2. Washington is the only capital of any of the major warring nations that has escaped a bombing. This is a source of irritation to axis war lords, it is believed, and a successful raid on Washington or some other city would tend to humiliate the American public in the same manner that Tokyo lost face after the Doolittle expedition. It also might be pointed out that Germany's Goering lost considerable prestige when his promises that Berlin would never be bombed backfired.

Hitler must do something to boost morale at home. An air raid on American cities might serve as a shot-in-the-arm to his people. Then, too, a raid would give a spectacular touch to the Nazi war effort and, it is believed, delude other nations into thinking that Germany remains a powerful force despite recent reverses. In that connection, German and Italian newspapers have been urging air raids on the United States.

4. Hitler hates American and all that it stands for. If a raid would curtail operations of a major war production plant or kill a few of the leaders directing the nation's war program, it would be a success.

5. Germany has produced planes large enough to cross the Atlantic and return. Ideal flying weather will accompany spring and summer. American observers reported that Hitler and Mussolini may have discussed an air attack on the United States at their recent Brenner pass conference.

Ohio Considered Target

Ohio is considered by Washington officials as definitely a potential target area inasmuch as it has 1,000 industrial plants, considered essential by the Army, employing 200 or more workers.

Recent statistics place the number of Ohioans working in war industries at 1,000,000. In other words, one person in every six is employed in some occupation which contributes directly to America's war effort.

Hitler always has done the unexpected and his threats to bomb Atlantic seaboard cities may be so much talk designed to catch midwestern industrial areas off guard.

Cities on Lake Erie as well as Columbus, Dayton, Cincinnati, Youngstown and Steubenville have long been recognized as potential industrial bombing targets.

From German bases established in Norway, Ohio cities are much closer in air line miles to enemy nations than New York, Boston, Philadelphia or Baltimore. The Army believes that enemy raiders would fly over the Arctic circle in conducting an attack on the United States. This course with little variance would put them in the vicinity of Detroit, Cleveland, Toledo, Sandusky, Conneaut, Girard, Youngstown, Akron, Ravenna and Canton.

Ohio's importance in America's war production program goes without question. The axis would be helped considerably if any of Ohio's industrial plants were compelled to curtail operations for any length of time.

It is important, therefore, that we prepare for any eventuality. We are not immune from attack and we may awaken some morning to find that the possibility of an air raid has turned into a grim reality.

PIG IRON MARKET SITUATION EASED

Armament Demand Lessened, Steel Output Drops.

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, April 26—An easier situation prevails in the pig iron market, the magazine Steel reported today.

"The burden on some foundries caused by war work has been slightly eased by changes in the matter of armament demand and by declining requirements for machine tool builders as equipment needs slacken," the trade publication said.

"Scrap yards operators continue to have difficulty obtaining sufficient labor to prepare their collections. Permission to increase wages has been granted in some cases but this has not solved the problem. Some operators are considering going out of business as circumstances have reduced their profits to the vanishing point."

National ingot production was unchanged last week at 99 per cent of estimated national capacity. District changes included Cleveland up 5 points to 95 per cent; Cincinnati up 4 to 97; Wheeling down 4½ to 88½ and Youngstown down 2 to 95. Pittsburgh and Detroit were unchanged at 98½ and 96 per cent, respectively.

Grand Prairie Grange Votes Canteen Gift

It was voted to purchase another War Savings bond and also to buy 100 pounds of popcorn in addition to the oranges, apples, magazines, cigarets, candy and matches brought by the members for the canteen for service men, at a meeting of Grand Prairie Grange, Tuesday night.

A program opened with group singing and a recitation, "Spring," was given by Mary Alice Linn. "My Mother Has No One to Do the Dishes" was the title of a solo by Dickie Kerr. Contests, games and refreshments followed the program.

It is permissible to leave cookers at the office for testing prior to Wednesday and call for them later in the week, Arthur Smith, county farm agent, and Mrs. Christine Cook of the county agricultural extension office will conduct the tests.

Pre-War Caskets Are Still Available - - -

The making of metal caskets was discontinued over a year ago. This became a necessary step when it was discovered that America would need more steel for war purposes than had been estimated. However, the casket manufacturers were permitted to finish processing the metals they had on hand at the time.

To protect its patrons as far as possible in such a situation, Hughes Funeral Service bought a large number of metal caskets. No more can be obtained for the duration of the war, but we still have a good assortment that are available.

Of course, caskets of wood and some plastics are being made today. There will be no shortage of caskets of some sort, but no more metal caskets can be made while the war lasts.

MONTHLY REPORT DUE ON SUPPLY OF FOOD

Available Under Rationing To Be Revealed.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 26 — To bring about more orderly rationing effort of price administrators to issue monthly reports of the civilian supplies, bottled and frozen vegetables.

The quantities sold and offered for sale under blue rationing also will be provided.

Publication of these lists, which are designed to show how early supplies compared with administrators' estimates of OPA, is expected next month.

Besides information, officials hope both businessmen and the buying public will be better able to plan ahead in purchases to prevent confusion and scramble for scarce food.

OPA Administrator Prentiss M. Brown announced over the weekend that retail ceiling prices on fresh fruits, which go into effect May 17, will be from one to two cents a pound lower than March estimates.

Brown said that compared with prices charged in February the ceiling schedule would be reduced an average of one per cent lower for the year, but the reductions would be sharper as compared to prices prevailing more recently.

Brown also announced meat rationing points would continue on a "modified accumulative basis at least through the next month. On this basis the following stamps will be valid until May 31:

Red "E" series, which became usable yesterday; "F," starting May 2; "G," starting May 9; "H," starting May 16 and "J" starting May 22.

The youths, one living in Marion and the other on a farm near Agosta, were arrested by police on charges of driving autos on temporary permits and unaccompanied by licensed operators.

The owner of the Wyandot county auto was arrested by city police on a charge of permitting an unlicensed operator to drive his car and the driver was charged with operating without a license. They were to be arraigned in municipal court today.

LIQUOR ZONING PLAN TAKES EFFECT TODAY

Buyers Must Make Purchases At Own Zone Stores.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, April 26—Ohioans get a foretaste of liquor rationing today as the state store zoning plan becomes effective.

The program requires purchasers to buy liquor from stores in their own neighborhoods.

Registration will start May 3 for formal rationing, expected to get under way early in June.

Liquor Director Don A. Fisher said complaints about the zoning plan had been "surprisingly few."

"I'm keeping my fingers crossed nonetheless," he added. "They likely will raise up in storm when the program really begins. They'll find out then just what this zoning is."

Fisher said he would confer Wednesday with representatives of the armed forces on a method of supplying service men under rationing. The temporary residence needs of service men will require special provisions, he explained.

Motorists Needed To Make Unique Gas Saving Test

Every patriotic Ohio citizen interested in conserving our resources and saving gasoline for victory will welcome the achievement of an American inventor. Thousands of car owners testing his invention and they report gas savings up to 30% as well as more power, smoother running and quicker starting. The device, called the Vacu-matic Gas Saver, operates on the supercharger principle and fits all makes of cars and trucks. It is entirely automatic and allows the motor to breathe. The manufacturer, the Vacu-matic Carburetor Co., 617-676? W. State St., Wauwatosa, Wisconsin, are offering a Vacu-matic free to those who will test it on their own cars or trucks and help introduce it to others. Write them today.—Adv.

YANKS FIGHT IN NORTH TUNISIA. America's Second Army corps pressed a drive on Bizerte and Tunis, after taking over a northern Tunisia sector (circled.) One task force aimed at Mateur from due west, and another fought along the Beja-Mateur road (small arrows.) The French advanced 12 miles from their Cape Serrat line (arrow), the British First Army moved forward between Medjez El Bab and Bou Arada (arrow), and the British Eighth advanced north of Enfidaville (arrow.) terday in the Goubellat sector southeast of Medjez-El-Bab.)

The battle east of Medjez-El-Bab also was proceeding in favor of the allied forces, the communique said, and heavy casualties were inflicted on enemy tank forces.

In the north, the Second U. S. corps captured an important height after heavy fighting in the Sidi N'Sir sector, forcing the axis forces to withdraw. The American troops are continuing to press forward, it was announced.

Yesterday an axis garrison which had been holding out in Heldous valley finally was liquidated, the communique said.

Allied forces stormed the northern front of Djebel Tanngouche, where the Germans had fought tenaciously, and captured the remnants of the garrison, it was announced.

Air Attack Resumed

Allied aircraft, hampered Saturday by poor weather, resumed heavy attacks on enemy transport and positions and several fires were started on a Tunisian airfield. A number of vehicles also were set afire.

Fighter planes escorted the bombers and carried out sweeps over the battle area, destroying seven enemy planes during the day. Twelve allied planes were lost, but two of the pilots are known to be safe, the communique said.

French forces, after days of fighting, drove the Germans from the much-contested Djebel Mansour hill position as allied armored forces engaged two German tank divisions northwest of the town.

The armored forces of Gen. Sir Harold Alexander were driving both northeast and southeast from Goubellat, only 16 miles from Pont Du Fahs. French troops also were in contact with the British Eighth army along the southern front and jointly digging the Germans out of mountain positions dominating the Pont Du Fahs gap. One hundred Italians were captured in the mountains west of the German position at Djebibina.

Actual gains in territory for the allies were small, but the battle for the Tunisian bridgehead was becoming a question of how long the axis forces could withstand the constant allied pressure from land, sea and air. There appeared reason to believe the axis command had committed all its reserves to the furious infantry and tank battles. Prisoners from the Eighth army front said they had orders to stand and fight until their ammunition was exhausted.

About 900 prisoners have been taken on the Eighth army front in the south while 200 more have been taken on Long Stop hill.

"Frequently sorties entirely on their own, even if they haven't had a chance to knock off the Germans, are yielding familiarity with enemy territory and valuable reconnaissance information.

"Any day one of these sorties may turn into a big clash. The moment all are awaiting is the first trip with a flotilla of American bombers tossing a Sunday punch at the enemy."

Commissioned in 1941

Capt. Renwick is the son of Mrs. Zula Renwick of 254 South Main street. His wife also shares the Renwick home here.

He was a member of the first class of pilots graduated from Victoria, Tex., field after the declaration of war on Japan, having received his commission there on Dec. 12, 1941. The twins, premature by two and one-half months, were believed by Dr. H. P. Conwell to have been the smallest in medical history to survive, considering their period of gestation.

AMERICANS RESUME BOMBING OF KISKA

Planes Raid Jap Base Despite Weather Hazards.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 26 — Gambling their navigation skill for a chance to slow up construction of a Japanese airbase in the Aleutians, American fliers have resumed their bombing raids on enemy installations at Kiska.

For two days the United States pilots apparently were earthbound because of fog and storms which in the North Pacific can roar up into plane-crushing blasts in a matter of minutes, but yesterday the Navy disclosed the raids had started again.

Despite storms, bombers and fighters took off Saturday to roar down on the rocky island near the end of the Aleutians chain, loosing explosives and strafing enemy positions with machine gun fire.

The weather was so bad, however, that the pilots were unable to observe results.

Earlier after two days had passed without reports of assaults on Kiska, which had been bombed 113 times since April 1, it was assumed here the enemy was able to make 48 hours of progress in his dogged construction of an airport.

Meanwhile in the South Pacific the much-bombed Japanese base at Munda, New Georgia island, again felt the blows of Avenger torpedo bombers, Dauntless dive bombers and Wildcat fighters. The attack, which occurred Saturday, island time, left one large fire blazing, destroyed a number of unidentified buildings and caused a heavy explosion.

A day earlier three grounded planes were set ablaze by American fighter planes strafing the base 180 miles from Henderson airfield in the Solomons. At the same time Avenger bombers struck the enemy airfield and left the runway pock-marked with bombholes after knocking out anti-aircraft positions.

Force of the explosion, which occurred about 8 a. m. Fierce Fighting Marks Axis Last Stand in Africa

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE

Fierce fighting, frequently with cold steel in hand-to-hand conflicts, is continuing among the powerful defenses in the great arc of mountains behind which the axis forces are making their final stand on African soil.

This was to be expected, and the battle among the peaks is likely to go on unceasingly and with increasing intensity until the Hitlerites quit. We are witnessing no ordinary struggle but one of the decisive engagements of the whole war, for United Nations operations against the Nazi-held European continent depend in large measure on our success in Tunisia.

The axis collapse may or may not come quickly, but it can be expected to come suddenly when it finally arrives—and arrive it will.

Virtually the whole arc is in violent eruption. The allies are hitting it fight end to end, thereby compelling the enemy to defend himself in many places at once. British, American and French forces are shooting relentlessly into the axis defenses in five main operations — chiefly astride strategic highways running through the mountain fastnesses to the coastal plain beyond — and have been making progress in all sectors, though slowly and with bloody toll.

Like Squeezing Balloon

These five operations — which actually are subdivided so nearly a dozen thrusts are being made — are like the fingers and thumb of a hand which is squeezing a toy balloon. Sooner or later one of those fingers will sink deep enough to explode the balloon. Just so, sooner or later one of the attacking forces will break through and open up a route to the coastal plain. Over that route will pour our mechanized forces, and the end of the great battle will be in sight.

Indeed, the Algiers radio today reports French forces have broken through the mountains guarding the Tunis plain in the neighborhood of Pont Du Fahs, near the southern end of the line. This is the unit which yesterday was credited with capturing the important heights of Djebel Mansour. Details are lacking to enable us to judge just what has happened in this sector.

On the far northern end of the line we have the French, who are driving eastward along the coast towards Bizerte. Just below them is our American corps under Lieut. Gen. George S. (Blood and Guts) Patton Jr., recently transferred there from the southern sector with such speed and efficiency as to draw commendation from British General Sir Harold Alexander.

Fight Like Veterans

The Yanks have been swinging into action like veterans and have been holding up their end of the show well. They are astride the highly important Sedjenane-Mateur highway and railway, and have captured several enemy hills in an advance of several miles.

Below the American corps is the British first army, hammering away on either side of Medjez-El-Bab which they hold and which is center of several highways, as well as a railway. Below them are the French operating in the Djebel Mansour sector. Then of course clear down in the southwest, at the end of the line, is the one and only Montgomery with his axis-busting eighth army which is thrusting northward along both the coastal road and the highway to Zaghouan.

The American and British forces continue to pile a mighty lot of straws on the axis camel's back. They are driving the enemy out of the air, blasting the communications between his bases and his mountain forces, destroying the supply depots themselves, and going a long way towards isolating him from continental aid.

But the air fleets are doing more than that. They are the eyes of our ground forces which otherwise would have to push more or less blindly in among the axis mountain defenses. Naturally there's a lot that can't be seen from a plane over such concealed positions, but a pilot can see more than can the chap on the ground.

A captured document indicates that Marshal Rommel may have been recalled to the continent. If he has been taken away from his troops it may easily have an adverse effect on their morale. Certainly the loss of his leadership would be felt, for he inspired his men.

PRESIDENT'S ORDER OBEYED BY STRIKERS

Celanese Plant Workers Return Before Deadline.

NEWARK, N. J., April 26 — Less than 48 hours after a presidential directive to end a walkout, employes of the Celanese Corp. of America's plastic division returned to their jobs this morning.

They reentered the plant five hours ahead of the noon deadline set by President Roosevelt in his order to halt a two-week strike or "your government will take steps to protect the interests of the nation at war."

Members of local 12666, district 50, United Mine Workers, voted Saturday night to end the walkout. Regional Director Edward Hecklebeck of district 50 said the President's message had been interpreted by the union as his personal assurance that "legal and orderly processes for the adjudication of grievances will be made available" to the union.

The dispute between local 12666 and the Textile Workers Union of America, CIO, for collective bargaining representation of Celanese employes was referred to the President by the war labor board as one hampering the war effort. The CIO union has been certified by the national labor relations board as the bargaining agent.

In other similar cases, the President has ordered the armed forces to take over strike-bound plants.

LEWIS

tiations Friday in answer to the WLB summons.

He said that insofar as the UMW considered the southern region, the contract still was in effect under the 30-day extension because negotiations were proceeding.

The Southern Coal Producers association in an advertisement appearing in newspapers here today answered the UMW demand for portal-to-portal payment with the assertion "it is untrue that miners are not paid for travel time."

Major union demands for its 450,000 soft coal miners include a $2 basic daily increase, an $8 minimum for coal field workers, portal-to-portal payment and unionization of minor bosses.

The Southern Coal Producers declared in their advertisement:

"Mr. Lewis claims that miners are not now paid for the time spent in travel. He demands not only that they be paid for this but also that they be paid at 1½ times the regular rates. He demands that miners be given an average wage increase for travel of $2.25 per day and this single demand, exclusive of all other demands, would add approximately $250,000,000 to the nation's coal bill. . . ."

"For more than 50 years it has been understood by the union and the operators that wage rates are established with travel time as a consideration."

Meanwhile, union leaders in southwestern Pennsylvania's vast soft coal fields warned that strikes now affecting 2,000 miners in the steel company-owned "captive" pits threaten to spread to other operations.

In Chicago, Col. John F. Davis, chief of staff of the Sixth service command, declared yesterday that troop movements in the command are "in no way connected with altercations, alleged or threatened in the coal fields." Davis issued the statement in reply to charges by Ray Edmundson, Illinois state representative of the UMW, that "specially trained U. S. Army troops" were being held in readiness "for invasion" of the southern Illinois coal area early this week.

Commander of All U. S. Land Forces Wounded in Africa

LIEUT. GEN. MCNAIR

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 26—Lt. Gen. Lesley J. McNair will be incapacitated several weeks as a result of the wounds he received in Tunisia last Friday, the war department reported today, adding that he was not critically injured.

A detailed report just received from Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower "indicates that he was severely but not critically injured," the Army said, when a shell fragment penetrated his helmet, inflicting a scalp wound. Another fragment caused a severe shoulder wound.

"General McNair (commander of all ground forces) was at a forward observation post in northern Tunisia observing the attack on enemy positions by elements of an American division," the department said.

"This post came under heavy enemy mortar and artillery fire. The general was struck by shell fragments, one of which penetrated his helmet and inflicted a scalp wound, and another caused a severe wound on the shoulder. The steel helmet that he was wearing undoubtedly saved his life."

Eisenhower said McNair would be evacuated from the front within the next day or two and probably would return to the United States in the near future for treatment.

Since he will be unable for some time to resume his duties in Washington, Lt. Gen. Ben Lear will remain in temporary command of the Army ground forces, to which he was ordered when the report was received that McNair had been wounded.

McNair, who was on an inspection trip in North Africa, is known as a fighting general. In a speech recently, he declared the sooner America's fighting men got tough and developed "lust for battle," the quicker would victory appear in view.

"Our object in life must be to kill," he declared. "There need be no pangs of conscience, for our enemies have lighted the way to faster, surer, crueller killing. We must hurry to catch up with them if we are to survive."

McNair, 59, has had a distinguished army career, and was described once by Gen. George C. Marshall, chief of staff, as the "brains of the army."

Ford Workers Return to Jobs in Canada

By The Associated Press

WINDSOR, Ont., April 26 — Five thousand Ford Motor Co. of Canada employees started back to work today at the end of a production tie-up which stopped five industries and caused idleness of 17,500 workers in plants directly and indirectly responsible for a large part of the British empire's war requirements for motor vehicles.

The first Ford shift started at midnight last night and succeeding shifts were scheduled to go to work at the usual times as a United Automobile Workers (CIO) dispute with the company went to arbitration under Louis Fine, chief conciliator of the Ontario department of labor.

The UAW accepted company terms for immediate arbitration of differences after the company had charged breaches of union discipline in the stoppage and the union alleged the company had instituted a lock-out.

Championship Bout

THE BUILDUP for the championship bout between the government of the United States and John L. Lewis, the challenger, has been completed. The first round of the fight, postponed from last April 1 to permit both contestants to get into the pink of condition, is the preliminary hearing before the war labor board.

Experts believe Mr. Lewis should be rated the favorite, despite his opponent's superior weight and reach. They have studied his preparatory work and found it flawless. The worst he could get out of the bout, they say, is a draw—and against the United States government a draw is a moral victory. Mr. Lewis isn't what could be called a popular fighter, but the crowd used to jeer Jack Dempsey, too.

The main thing with Mr. Lewis is to win. He has reached the top by bowling over one tough opponent after another. This fight is the climax of his career—his chance to prove that he is better than the government of the United States. To put it mildly, there are no less than 130,000,000 extremely interested spectators.

Japanese "Justice"

TO GRASP the implications of Japan's intention to execute enemy aviators found guilty under the Japanese version of justice, it is necessary to view the situation with something besides indignation.

The Japanese version of justice in wartime, and peacetime, too, bears slight resemblance to the Anglo-American code of justice. It is as different as Germany's code of national behavior is different from, say, the Swedish code of national behavior, as different as India's code and Switzerland's code.

Differing conceptions of justice are one of the great underlying causes of all war. Merely to express horror because Japan's code has run contrary to this country's code only touches, but does not penetrate, the implications of a war being fought to keep the Japanese-German-Italian code from being inflicted on civilizations that could not survive under it.

Another Bear To Grab

THE British government's plain threat of retaliation if Germany uses poison gas against Russia signifies that this eventuality of total war is imminent. There has never been any doubt that the Germans would use gas whenever they became sufficiently desperate. Their promises to refrain from use of a weapon they counted on heavily in the war 25 years ago means nothing.

Unfortunately, Britain's promise to turn the weapon against them as soon as they strike is based on the problematic ability of air power to do extensive damage with gas bombs. Many experts feel that while the effect on morale in gassed cities undoubtedly would be shattering the actual consequences in casualties would be limited closely by inability to concentrate the attack. The last war indicated that gas is to be feared more for what it may do than for what it actually does, even on fighting fronts where the attack can be concentrated.

Hitler and his generals have a delicate question to decide. If they are in a mood to grab another bear by the tail, in addition to aerial bombing, they can be sure that the bear is ready and willing to give them a workout worthy of their arrogance.

Milestones

WEATHER is no respecter of wars. In 1941, year of the blitz, Britons basked in the most glorious summer weather in the memory of living men. War has brought Europe its severest winter in memory, Russia the deepest snows. North America its most productive growing season.

This April, in the same continent, a new milestone is being erected—to make the most reluctant spring. Until the month is over and all the statistics are in, the phenomenon won't be official. But already in the minds of the disappointed farmers, gardeners and baseball players who have been grappling with it at close grips there is no need for official confirmation.

It is an April that will be hailed back to in years to come by old gaffers contesting the claim of upstarts that the versions of reluctant springs in years to come are unprecedented. "No, sonny," they will muse, tugging their whiskers," there was a spring during the second World war that set the record. I remember it well, because I had put in a Victory Garden—that's what they called 'em in that war—and for the next three weeks at least it was so cold we got warm enough to raise anything but goose pimples."

Washington occasionally is accused of failing to have a clear understanding of what concerns the people most and now there is apparent proof of this in plans of authorities at the capital to close the doors of the forthcoming world food conference against representatives of the press. However, possibly continued and vigorous argument may finally convince the ruling powers that food actually is a matter of considerable public interest.

No incentive for production in any industry can equal downright interest in doing a good job.

News Behind the News

Speaker Payburn Puts Pressure on Doughton To Revive Pay-Go Tax Plan.

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, April 26—Speaker Rayburn administered a rousing kick to the tax bill when he told Chairman Doughton of the ways and means committee that the house wanted a pay-as-you-go tax plan.

Mr. Doughton's nickname is "Muley" and the suggestion of stubbornness which it connotes is not misplaced. Rayburn is understood to have threatened to take the tax bill away from the ways and means committee, unless something was done.

The administration obviously could not much longer stand the public pressure for some improvement of tax collection methods. Even the treasury realized that a pay-as-you-go plan would not only be politically wise, but financially necessary if these stupendous tax rates are to be collected in full.

An obstreperous newsman went home to the Democratic-Republican tax revisal meetings by demanding to know of Mr. Doughton:

"Who ate crow?"

Doughton banged his fist, insisting no crow was present. Republican Representative Knutson rushed to the reporter and shushed him into silence, saying personalities were so frayed inside that such an embarrassing question might start the whole fight over again.

Thus, Mr. Doughton's paralyzing hold on the situation has been broken, and some kind of action will be taken. The only thing certain is that the fight will be wide open and all plans will be voted on this time.

Agreement was effected on that—and only that, the selection of a plan is likely to be decided by what the congressmen hear at home during their present 10-day Easter recess.

Rayburn for Vice President

The substitution of Mr. Rayburn for Vice President Wallace on the nether end of the fourth term ticket is being discussed among congressional Democratic politicos. The next time Mr. Roosevelt will need political aid from the not-so-solid south, and choice of the Texan as a running mate would restore the severed strings between Mr. Roosevelt and the southern political leaders of the party.

A vice president is usually chosen solely because he can make a political contribution to the ticket. Mr. Wallace is supposed to have brought in the farmers the last time.

But the main political weight he carries now seems largely confined to extreme liberal elements, which are most violently New Deal anyway, and so not need urging.

The way Secretary Morgenthau maneuvered into getting the Ruml-Jones defeatist plan before congressional committees, but was never more frigidly taken when Senators Danaher and Taft went after him in the senate banking committee hearing.

At one point, Morgenthau urged Taft not to make statements disquieting to dollar valuation "in the middle of a bond drive." Taft replied the bond drive could get no better advertising than for Mr. Morgenthau to drop his request for continuance of the President's devaluation powers.

Democratic Chairman Wagner and Senator Maloney became worried about the press publishing such testimony and feared its possible effect on bond buying. Both Wagner and Morgenthau consulted newsmen and urged that much of the testimony be kept off the record.

The committee tried, in executive session, to find some way to keep the whole story out of the papers, but in the end, Mr. Morgenthau agreed to drop the devaluation powers and thus congress for what I believe is the first time in the history of the New Deal, has taken back an important grant of authority from Mr. Roosevelt.

Frankly, the apprehensions over letting the public in on this debate seemed unnecessarily high-strung. With advancing prices effecting a real devaluation of the dollar in every grocery store in the land for the past two years, an argument over executive fidgeting with 20 per cent of the gold backing sounded purely academic. The President failed to change prices by such gold action before.

The White House probably whispered to Morgenthau to let the devaluation power go, and no tears were apparent anywhere.

Court Debates

The supreme court shows some new aspects of a soap-box debating society. New Deal justices hold such strongly individual opinions that they are falling into the habit of writing minority or separate personal decisions, differing only in some minor legal phases. Old-hands generally keep such views to themselves, let the matter slide.

The practice has developed to such an extent that the work of the court has been impeded, and decisions are behind.

Over-Production Threat

Oversupply of Some Items May Cost Workers Their Jobs.

By JOHN GROVER
Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, April 24—When CIO's Phil Murray said 650,000 war workers faced loss of jobs because they had over-produced some kinds of war goods he wasn't talking just to stir up a breeze. The problem is serious.

Murray's statement scarcely evoked a mild ho-hum in official Washington, but some key men in the war effort are privately worried dizzy about unemployment attendant on shifts in war production emphasis.

Lessons learned in actual combat cause changes in production scheduling. If fighting shows that Item A is of doubtful value in the field, and we already have scads of Item A awaiting shipment, it's likely that outstanding contracts for Item A will be canceled.

There is also the factor that some easy-to-produce munitions and supplies are being turned out far in excess of available shipping and storage space. (Some ammunition, powder and automotive equipment items have been mentioned as well ahead of current and forseeable needs.)

When these contract cancellations hit plants in bustling industrial centers, it doesn't pose much of a problem. Local labor is so scarce in these critical centers that a laid-off workman can go to work as soon as he sees a personnel manager in any one of a dozen neighboring plants.

Isolated Industries

It's not so simple when cancellation hits a plant isolated geographically. (Many of our new powder and munition plants were deliberately constructed miles from anywhere.) Theoretically they could be absorbed in the man-hungry industrial areas, but housing is a stumbling block. Housing facilities are gravely strained in the major production centers.

Coincident with the de-emphasis of some over-produced munitions lines, there is increased emphasis on stepping up production of others. The joint New Year statement of WPB-War-Navy mentioned merchant ship escort ships and plane production as points of increased emphasis, with ordnance scheduled for at least temporary de-emphasis to let the war catch up with existing supplies.

Acute Shortage

These shifts in production emphasis do not change the national manpower picture. An acute shortage of manpower and womanpower does exist in the critical centers. It's not likely that de-emphasis in isolated production areas will cause more than local unemployment, some spots for six months to a year.

However, thoughtful top executives expect this problem of reconversion and re-employment in de-emphasized lines to be one of the toughest to solve in the late months of '43 and early in '44.

It has been suggested that the accelerated draft of married men in non-essential lines will ease urban housing to make room for displaced workers from the isolated factories shut down. It has also been urged that displaced workmen be recruited for augmented low-cost housing projects to shelter new workers in the "emphasized" production lines. (This solution runs into the snag of scarce materials.)

One reason Murray's statement of impending unemployment did not cause more reaction is that both industrialists and labor leaders in the past have been guilty of "wolf! wolf!" stories about the labor supply.

Careful observers at WPB say some industrialists have put out tales of imminent layoffs about the time they were negotiating for new contracts. It was their inference that unless they got the contracts, there would be widespread suffering among large groups of workers. Getting the contracts usually cured their gloom. Some, indeed, asked time concessions on their contracts because of labor shortages not long after their pre-contract predictions of impending layoffs.

For similar self-serving reasons, some labor leaders have thrown their weight against scaling down production contracts. They are not too keen to see large blocs of labor displaced and forced into other industries, possibly under control of a rival labor group.

But none of the men in a position to know view Murray's statement skeptically. Privately, some of them say his 650,000 figure is too low.

Summed up, it amounts to this: some program must be worked out to take displaced workers to areas of critical labor shortage, and house them when they arrive. Otherwise, there'll be an increasing paradox of serious unemployment in some sectors, and a serious labor shortage elsewhere.

So far, the most worried executives admit no solution has been found.

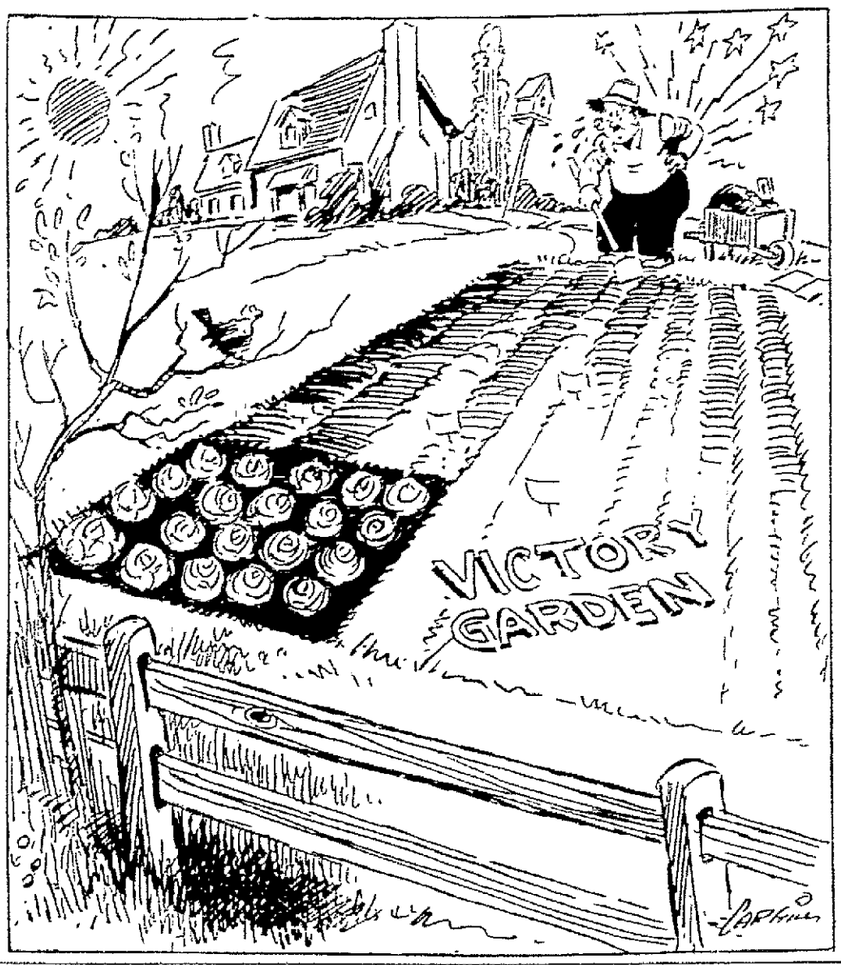
FIRST ROWS OF SUMMER



In the Light of Tunisia's Easter Moon

But It Isn't Pilgrims Who Must Find the Way in 1943.

EASTER can not fall on a date as late as April 25 again until the year 2083, unless something happens in the meantime to the rule made by the great council of Christian churches at Nicea in 235 A. D. that the occasion must be celebrated the first Sunday following the fourteenth day of the new moon that begins on or after the vernal equinox.

It happened this year that the fourteenth day of the moon, April 18, fell on a Sunday, which put off Easter till yesterday, a rare coincidence.

THE advantage of a full moon to attacking forces in North Africa was pointed out by Brig. Gen. H. S. Sewell, a British military commentator, on March 19, eve of the battle of the Mareth line. It was essential not only to troops moving to the attack, he explained, but also a powerful aid to vessels of the British navy, both surface and submarine, waiting to strike axis ships risking passage across the Sicilian narrows. In addition, night fighters and bombers keeping the air clear above allied lines and blasting enemy bases were helped. The battle of El Alamein, which started the axis retreat across Libya into Tunisia, began the night of Oct. 23-24—first night of the full moon after Gen. Montgomery had completed preparations for the Eighth army's sledgehammer attack on Marshal Rommel's position in Egypt.

One night after the battle of the Mareth line opened, on March 20, the first full moon in March lighted the way. The high ground occupied by Rommel's forces in the Mahaima hills and along the escarpment leading to the bottleneck of the Mareth line, had allowed perfect axis observation during the daylight hours of the coastal plain along which the Eighth army was moving to the attack. Even with air superiority, it was almost impossible to mask the purposes of the attacking forces; only at night, by the light of the moon, was there a possibility of carrying out surprise concentrations or anything like the brilliant enveloping movement on the enemy's right flank that reduced the Mareth line by the end of the month and admitted the Eighth army to central Tunisia.

IN all of Gen. Montgomery's calculations, the phases of the moon have played an important part. The Easter moon now may be a vital factor in the coming great battle to wipe out the axis in Africa. Last Tuesday, April 20, was the beginning of a propitious time for attack. The moon's last quarter will begin on April 27.

The moon is similarly important to the axis, but for opposite reasons. Axis strategy obviously would be to hold off any attempt at mass evacuation until the dark of the moon, to offset allied air superiority in the battle area.

The Italian fleet, which is the only hope for mass evacuation of Italy's arrogant ally, now trapped in a corner of Africa, will go to a doom that would be made more certain if its approach to the Tunisian coastal plain had to be made in bright moonlight.

The British navy and the allied air generals could ask for nothing more favorable than a chance to prove that Italy's great error in going to war on Germany's side was the assumption that its battle fleet could contol the Mediterranean sea.

On Friday, April 30th, the elusive small planet Mercury reaches its greatest eastern elongation, its greatest distance east of the sun. At this time it sets nearly two hours after sunset, giving the observer a fine opportunity to see a difficult object. At the time the sun goes down Mercury will be about 20 degrees above the horizon, and will appear as a star of magnitude —1. Look for it very close to the Pleiades cluster in the constellation Taurus.

By the end of the month Venus will be nearly 40 degrees east of the sun and of magnitude —3.5. It is interesting here to compare the magnitude of Venus with that of Jupiter, which at this time is —1.6.

All Who Argued the Famous O... Should Be Revived Have Hea... the Glad Tidings by This Time.

By DAMON RUNYON

I HOPE ... trust the veterans of the ... Division of the Abs... restored ... me one credit for the ... that it's returning to the army rolls.

On several occasions I called attention to the omission of the 42nd from the number of the army divisions and stirred up the old timers into asking that it be revived, though others thought the omission a big compliment to the original Rainbow.

Their idea was that army authorities felt that this great unit of Gen. Pershing's should be the first and last of that name-number. However, the majority of the Rainbow's vets probably thought that such a spot of valor and efficiency should never be permitted to lapse, and it is my conjecture that sentiment had much to do with the decision of the army to reconstitute the division.

Secretary of War Stimson has announced it is to come back at Camp Gruber, in Oklahoma in July, under the command of Brig. Gen. J. Collins, a native of Chicago and a graduate of Western Military academy at Alton, Ill. ... has been assistant commander of the 99th division. It will be officially the 42nd ... division but with a makeup that will entitle to the old name Rainbow.

THIS name came from the fact that the original 42nd's troops came from all the states and I believe it was Gen. Douglas MacArthur, afterward to command the ... s, in France who gave it the name when, on ... its composition, he remarked: "Why ... regular rainbow." As the Rainbow, the ... made military history in World war I, fi... on a score of battlefields.

There is no doubt the name Rainbow ... to its fame. It caught the imagination of the American public. It also produced ... throughout the AEF. All other divisions had titles—"The Wildcat," "The Red A..." and so on. A few of the old regular army divisions stood haughtily aloof from the fashion. I thought it was a good thing because it ... the fancy of the soldiers. They felt that the names gave their outfits distinction.

I fear that the names will have none of the publicity values in this war that they had in World war I, because this one is being conducted with such secrecy that divisions are rarely identified from the battle fronts, which in my opinion is a mistake, save of course when the information might prove of value to the enemy. I think it adds to public interest and morale when the people know just where their own boys are fighting.

FOR a most imaginative people in the matter of picturesque nomenclature, we have exploited fanciful titles for our fighting men in this war much less than the British, even the enemy. Not that names make any difference in battle results, but they certainly increase public interest and lend color to the reports on the action. For instance the British have their royal air force, while, as Capt. ... Sturgis of Seaside, Calif., reminds me, the Americans are usually mentioned as just "... air forces."

He thinks that branch of our fighting forces ought to have a more distinctive name, and officially the AEF. I believe, but it is seldom spoken of in that manner. Mr. Sturgis suggests "White Stars," though I do not like the application. A few types of American planes now have distinctive names, though most of them are still mentioned by letters and numbers which sound most prosaic. Anyway, few people can remember which is which.

The British names for military outfits also struck me as highly picturesque—"Grenadiers," "Fusileers," "Coldstream Guards," and the like, and I have often wondered why our own army has used so little imagination in that regard. I notice a slight tendency lately among the public prints to fit British names of certain types of soldiery to American outfits, but I don't think it will work.

The other day I saw a picture in a magazine that was labelled as American "sappers" looking for land mines. In our language "sappers" are engineers, and always will be. If "sap" is a derivation of "sappers" the term is particularly inappropriate to American engineers, because I never saw one who was ...

Handy Man MacArthur

By SPOON RIVER SAM

I've never written a squib about Gen. Douglas MacArthur, for fear somebody would say I was nominating him for President.

But I've held off long enough. We all know what a real general he is, but I want to say a word on some of his other qualities.

There's a man that writes the best communiques there is, from any front. They read so smooth, they sound like poetry. I hear the general takes a heap of pride in his writings, and you can sure tell it.

What I like about him, too, is that he's a man who knows how to pray. In fact, he's had to pray quite a bit. I have a notion that the general, busy as he is, turns to his Bible pretty often. A lot of folks I know never look in the Bible till they're hunting for some money they hid away and thought it was lost.

Yes sir, Gen. MacArthur is doing a job over there in Australia. But think how much better he could do if he didn't have to spend so much time arguing, begging and denying. He has to argue that the Japs are still dangerous, beg for more planes, and deny he's running for office.

THE 2ND WAR LOAN DRIVE IS ON!

This Announcement will make some people blush!

Could this be you?... "What a breakfast! Eggs without bacon. Coffee—just one cup of it—without heavy cream. Just a skimpy little pat of butter for my toast. Don't talk to me about sacrifice. I'm making plenty. And what about the 10% of my pay that goes into War Bonds every week?"

When THIS is your fellow American!

"We've been under fire night and day for 12 days. Advancing through heavy mud. Wet and tired. The nights are freezing cold. No hot food. Only our iron rations to keep us going. Casualties have been heavy. Yesterday, my buddy, 'Spike' Anderson, got his. But today it's worthwhile. Today we stormed and took the Nazi position."

FROM every front comes a story of the heroism of our troops—of the unbelievable hardships and privations they are suffering. And now from our far flung battle lines comes an urgent cry for help: "Send us more planes, more guns, more ammunition." For today the fighting fronts blaze into new fury. In a last desperate effort to annihilate us, the Axis powers are throwing everything into the struggle. The next few weeks or months may decide the outcome of the war. And that's why your Government is calling on you to lend it more money. Thirteen billion dollars are needed—needed urgently and right now. This is a showdown fight and we've got to top the Nazis and the Japs with our efforts if we are going to win.

The Big Offensive Is On

We're not playing at war. This is the real thing. Our boys are dying in defense of our country—casualty lists are mounting. The least we can do is to back up our men with every single dollar we can scrape together. Remember they do not stop to ask the cost—they pay with their lives. In the face of their sacrifice can any of us back here at home say that we are doing enough?

Millions of patriotic Americans are already putting 10% of their earnings into War Bonds every payday. We can be proud of this record—but 10% is not enough. Today we are confronted by a great and critical emergency. Thirteen billion extra dollars are needed and needed at once. That is a big sum of money, but not too big for America.

What does this mean to you? It means that it is your patriotic duty to put more money into Government securities regardless of what self-sacrifice it may entail. Give up some of your comforts, do without things you need—this is a vital matter.

And remember when you dig up this money that you are not giving a cent. You are merely investing it in the safest securities in the world. You will get it back with interest when the war is over. It will supply you with cash for the things you want when we are free to return to the ways of peace. It will mean security for you and yours.

What To Do

Thousands of men and women, volunteer workers, are calling on everybody possible, explaining the 2nd War Loan Drive and the different types of Government securities offered to meet every individual's needs. Welcome one of these representatives if he calls on you, for he is giving his time and effort freely to this patriotic cause. But don't wait for his call. Go to your bank, Post Office or War Bond booth. Lay down your money—more than you think you can spare—for extra bonds. Know in your heart that when your country called, you answered "YES"!

U. S., FINNISH BREAK LIKELY

Split Seems Near as Helsinki Stands Firm on Alliance with Germany.

By The Associated Press

STOCKHOLM, April 26 — A break in diplomatic relations between the United States and Finland appeared imminent today, perhaps only a matter of hours, as advices from Helsinki reported little possibility of a change in Finnish foreign policy that government saw the situation.

While the Finnish public was reported deeply disturbed by the prospect of a break, Finland's official position was summed up tersely by a source close to the government with these words:

The American cards expect us to the a noose around our necks."

The statement was an obvious reference to American demands that Finland settle her differences with Russia, break away from Germany and withdraw from the war.

Germany has been reported bringing strong pressure on Finland to step up her military efforts against Russia and aid the Nazis in mounting a spring offensive against Leningrad.

Reports were current last night that Washington already had broken relations with Finland, but they were described as "premature" by a high Finnish foreign source in Helsinki.

This source disclosed that U. S. Charge d'Affaires Robert Mills McClintock had made an appointment at the foreign office yesterday afternoon to discuss "an important matter" but later had cancelled the appointment. There was no explanation, and McClintock declined to comment.

McClintock and a code clerk have been the sole occupants of the U. S. legation since last Fri-

CHICAGO, April 26—Robert Roloson, 9, was the only survivor today of a fire which caused the death of his father, Robert M. Roloson 39, multi-millionaire director of the United Air Lines; his mother, Ella, 36; his sister Cary, 12, and his brother, Edward, 5, all of whom lived west of suburban Winnetka.

The fire which early yesterday swept through the Rolosons' 23-room house apparently was started by sparks from a fireplace, Capt. David Woods of the Winnetka fire department said

Small Majority Opposes Amendment Placing Two Term Limit On Presidents

BY GEORGE GALLUP
Director, American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J., April 26 — [illegible] Congress to propose [illegible] amendment to the Constitution [illegible] amend the Constitution to limit [illegible] to two terms, and [illegible] of the other two-thirds of the states to consider adopting such a resolution.

[illegible] states (two-thirds of the total 48) would adopt [illegible] proposal, congress must call [illegible] to consider proposals for amending the Constitution.

Whether or not a constitutional amendment [illegible] accepted by enough states to make the first time in the history of the country that state legislatures have called upon congress for a constitutional convention, the action of the four states raises the important question: Is public sentiment behind the movement to limit presidents to two terms?

With the institutes facilities for [illegible] machinery functioning in every state, it is possible to take the issue directly to the people and to record how they would vote if a national referendum were held.

How Country Stands

Results of a survey on the issue reveal that if a national referendum were held today, the country would vote against an amendment limiting the president to two terms.

In only two sections of the country, comprising 12 states, is the total vote favorable to the amendment. These are the East and West Central areas, made up of the four states which have already adopted the resolution and Ohio, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska, South Dakota, and North Dakota.

These two areas are the center of Republican strength today.

The other sections of the country—the South, the New England and Middle Atlantic areas, and the Mountain and Far Western areas—show a larger proportion against the amendment than for it.

In presenting the issue to the country, the Institute had field reporters put the question to a sample of accurately chosen miniature electorate, as follows:

"Would you favor adding a law to the Federal Constitution [illegible] any President of the United States [illegible] more terms?"

A national referendum on the amendment would find public opinion as the following national cross-[illegible]:

Favor Two-Term Amendment	46%
Oppose Two-Term Amendment	54

Only seven out of every one hundred persons questioned said they had no opinion to offer on the issue and presumably would not vote in a referendum.

Sectional Vote

Political observers will be interested to the extent to which the South, Democrat stronghold, favor the limiting amendment. Here is the vote by sections:

	Favor Two-Term Amendment	Oppose Two-Term Amendment
NEW ENGLAND and MIDDLE ATLANTIC (Me., N. H., Vt., Mass., Conn., R. I., N. Y., N. J., Pa., Del., W. Va., Md.)	41%	59%
EAST CENTRAL (Ohio, Ind., Ill., Mich.)	52	48
WEST CENTRAL (Wis., Minn., Iowa, Kans., Neb., N. D., S. D., Mo.)	58	42
SOUTH (Va., N. C., S. C., Ga., Fla., Ala., Miss., La., Ky., Tenn., Tex., Okla., Ark)	42	58
FAR WEST (N.M., Ariz., Nev., Colo., Utah, Idaho, Mont., Wyo., Cal., Ore., Wash.)	42	58

Party Issue

The survey further indicates that the issue divides largely along party lines, with Republicans in favor of the two-term amendment and Democrats opposed, as is shown in the following table:

	Favor Two-Term Amendment	Oppose Two-Term Amendment
DEMOCRATS	28%	72%
REPUBLICANS	71	26

Trend on 2-Term Amendment

The two-term issue first came up in 1937 after Roosevelt's re-election. At that time sentiment was about evenly divided on the question. The Institute has taken five surveys between 1937 and today. The lowest favorable vote on the issue was registered in the 1940 survey. Today the trend is upward again. Here is the vote on the five surveys:

	Favor Two-Term Amendment	Oppose Two-Term Amendment
1937	49%	51%
1938	48	52
1939	42	58
1940	41	59

sources they have at home to the fullest possible advantage.

John I. Saks, labor market analyst from the Cleveland WMC regional office, continued along the same line in his talk to the group. Whereas employers had a labor supply backlog of 6,800,000 unemployed in 1940, there is virtually no backlog nor unemployment now, he declared. Virtually all of the employables in this former army of unemployed have been absorbed, and employers are being obliged to train new workers by the hundreds of thousands.

Many areas are still comfortably situated now so far as the labor supply is concerned, but as 1943 progresses and the armed forces and industry present new and greater demands on manpower, stringent labor supply problems may be expected virtually everywhere in the country, he said. In other words, if some communities do not have an acute labor shortage now, they probably will have one before the end of the year, he said.

Some 60 federal employment office managers and war manpower commission representatives from local communities throughout the central and north-central Ohio areas are attending the meeting. They are being given complete information on the WMC regulations coming out of Washington, and are being given an overall picture of the manpower problems and equipped insofar as possible to solve the problems in their local communities.

TAFT'S SUPPLY PLAN FAVORED

Ohioan Would Give Byrnes Wide Powers Over Civilian Goods.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 26 — Early [illegible] Appropriations [illegible] dered today [illegible] supply agency [illegible] Senator Taft (Republican, Ohio) [illegible] powers, as a step toward solving Economic Stabilization Director James F. Byrnes' [illegible] authority that would make [illegible] an assistant president.

Strongly opposed by War Chairman Donald Nelson, the bill would separate civilian supply authority from the war production board, giving the new set-up equal claimant powers with the Army and Navy. Byrnes would have the final word in settling disputes over allocations between these agencies.

Byrnes now has wide authority to exercise home front controls which Taft said he thought ought to be extended to the point where the former senator and supreme court justice could become a fact if not in name, the arbiter of all disputes arising between agencies concerned with domestic phases of the war program.

Favors War Council

"What we really need, of course, is a war council similar to the war cabinet formed by President Wilson during the last war," Taft told reporters. "It seems that we are not to have that, but I believe that Byrnes ought to be put in a position where he can settle all of the disputes that arise and not let them go on for months and months as they do now."

Opposing factions started to marshal their forces on Capitol Hill for forthcoming congressional disputes over reciprocal trade agreements and pay-as-you-go income tax proposals.

Senate Minority Leader McNary demanded congress assume veto power over the trade agreements. Administration leaders have served notice they would fight for a three-year renewal of the reciprocal program as it now stands.

The administration's authority for negotiating the agreements expires June 12.

McNary said "prolonged political debate" could be avoided if the administration would agree to allow congress to nullify, by majority vote, any reciprocal trade agreement. McNary said renewal of the program could be gained speedily if such an agreement was reached.

Secretary of State Hull has made it clear, however, that the administration would insist upon unamended renewal of the program.

A week-end Associated Press poll showed at least 40 senators would vote to continue the trade agreements program. Nineteen said they either were flatly opposed or would demand amendments. Thirty seven senators declined to commit themselves or could not be reached.

The house was in recess, but the Democratic majority leadership sought Republican support for a new pay-as-you-go tax bill which would cancel about 44 per cent of 1942 obligations.

The measure came from the ways and means committee Saturday. It will reach the floor for a single day of debate next Monday. A free-for-all battle is

Dull Batting Eyes May Be To Blame for Lack of Base Hits

Senators Get 17 Safeties and Yanks 12 in Week-End Games Despite So-Called "Dead" Ball.

Vander Meer Loses

Yesterday it was Lefty Johnny Vander Meer who lost the decision to Lefty Howard Pollet of the Cardinals as the two western rivals grappled in their hitting vacuum at Crosley Field.

The Dodgers were handed their first licking and the Phillies gained their first victory, 3-2, as Rookie Jack Kraus, former Brooklyn farmhand, held Leo Durocher's dandies to six scattered hits.

Nate Andrews held the New York Giants to seven hits as the Boston Braves copped an 8-3 verdict with five runs in the seventh and eighth innings.

Detroit and Cleveland divided a doubleheader, both scores being 4-1.

With George McQuinn acting a homer the St. Louis Browns stopped the Chicago White Sox 5-1 in a game that had to be called after seven innings. The second game of a scheduled double bill was postponed.

Beulah Park Set To Open State Racing Saturday

By FRITZ HOWELL
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, O., April 26—A bit of this and that, picked up here and there around Grove City—where Beulah Park opens Ohio's racing season Saturday!

Remember the pre-war days when you had to be there at dawn to see the horses go through their "works?" Well, that's all changed now, for at Beulah the exercise jaunts go right on through the day, and some of the runners don't get their turn until dusk.

Lack of exercise boys is the reason. L. E. (Buck) McClellan put 43 hay-burners through their paces the other day, but he did not mind the work a bit since he collected 50 cents to a dollar for each ride.

B. H. (Beanie) Wymer, veteran habitue of the tracks, said he thought McClellan's one-day performance was a record, and Wymer should know for he's been around since the pony express days when the boys spent their lives jumping from one horse to another.

The exercise boy shortage won't extend to the jockey list, although only about 30 will be on hand as compared to 45 a year ago. It just means the riders will get more mounts during the 26-day session.

"Wee Willie" McCadden of Cleveland, No. 1 rider at Beulah's 1942 spring meeting, is ready to go again, but H. B. Wilson, top jock at the fall session, and highly-rated Jackie Flinchum, have joined a host of other riders in the armed services.

John Allgeyer, Cincinnati sportsman, is in a position to tell his mounts to "either win those stakes, or be steaks." He's a butcher.

Fifth running of the $2,500 added Governor's Handicap, won last year by Best Seller, is booked for Saturday, May 22.

Weather conditions in recent weeks have upset training schedules at Beulah, and horses which have campaigned at the winter tracks will get the early attention from the rail birds. J. W. Johnston, who campaigns My Tet Rambler, a beautiful gray, won't be peeved if the track stays muddy. My Tet Rambler can really ramble in the goo, he said.

SCOUT CAMP TO HELP PRODUCE OWN FOOD

The attempted Boy Scout remedies for the country's food shortages are on tap at Camp John A. Owens for next summer when the camp officially opens to district scouts. Already the camp caretaker has started to raise chickens. About 300 hens, roosters and chicks have been raised and approximately twice that number are expected by the end of the summer.

Another Scout project at the camp with a war emphasis is the large victory garden that will be planted by district Scouts. This is the first year that gardening has been such an important feature of the camp's activities. In former years only small garden plots have been planted.

IN 4 GAMES CARDS AND REDS GET TOTAL OF THREE RUNS EACH

St. Louis Wins Another 1-0 Game; Cincy Outhits Foe 44 to 21 in Series.

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, April 26—The Cincinnati Reds and St. Louis Cardinals take another day off already today, and none will say they didn't earn it in their first series of 1943's baseball season. In four games the two teams, one the world champion, the other a professed challenger, tied on all important points of debate. Howard Pollet's 1-0 victory over the Reds yesterday gave the Cards an even break and raised the St. Louis run total to three, just what the Reds had for 39 innings of the national pastime.

The Reds outhit the Cards, 44 to 21, which could indicate that most Cincinnati hits, dead ball or none, are contributing mainly to the batters' averages so far.

Rookie Buster Adams' squeeze bunt won the Sunday game for the Cards in the fifth. Walker Cooper had just accomplished the feat of the week, a triple to right center and by all accounts a well-hit ball. Adams then spoiled Johnny Vander Meer's hope of a second victory.

Johnny held the Cards to four hits, but his own team couldn't make a run on five. In the first, when they loaded the bases with one out, Eddie Miller hit into a double play. They got two men on in the second to no good end.

The game was the finale for the duration for Mike McCormick, centerfielder expecting his draft notice momentarily. He left after the game to spend his last few days with his wife, an expectant mother, in Stockton, Calif.

Ray Mueller suffered a split finger in the fifth and Tony De Phillips will be the Red catcher for a few days.

Ray Starr is the Reds' pitcher tomorrow at Pittsburgh.

Cleveland To Start First Road Trip

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, April 26—The Cleveland Indians rested today before invading Chicago on their first road trip of the season.

Manager Lou Boudreau indicated that Mel Harder, who was beaten by Detroit last Thursday, would open against the White Sox tomorrow. His opponent probably will be Thorton (Lefty) Lee.

Jim Bagby's pitching enabled the Tribesmen to secure an even break in the twin bill with Detroit at the stadium yesterday and also gave them three wins in the five-game series.

Lanky Jim's efforts dominated the series with the Tigers. In addition to his two pound victories, he collected three hits and batted in three runs.

Baby scattered eight hits and contributed a two-run triple as the Redskins won yesterday's first game 4 to 1. Frank (Stub) Overmire hurled five-hit ball as the Tigers took the second engagement by the same score.

Paul (Dizzy) Trout, who opposed Bagby, held the Indians to three hits but four of the five bases on balls he issued were converted into runs.

The Indians' five hits off Overmire were distributed over as many innings. The Tigers got to Mike Naymick for four and added two more at the expense of Allie Reynolds.

The Indians and Tigers played to nearly 30,000 fans in the first series of the season in spite of the bad weather of opening day and yesterday. The double header drew an attendance of 10,283.

Xenia's Relay Reign Ended

Marion and Wyandot County Teams Score in O.W.U. Races.

By The Associated Press

DELAWARE, O., April 26—The three-year reign of Xenia O. S. and S. O. home in the class B division of the Ohio Wesleyan scholastic relays was at an end today with New London High's trackmen occupying the championship throne.

New London piled up 27 points to lead a 16-team field in Saturday's 12th renewal of the relays. Xenia garnered 15 and fell to fourth place.

Cleveland East Tech successfully defended its Class A title against 15 challengers.

Here's how they finished:

Class A—Cleveland East Tech 34, Lakewood 25, Cleveland John Marshall 21, Springfield Senior 21, Columbus Central 16, Toledo Devilbiss 14, Dayton Fairview 13, Columbus North to 10½, Columbus East 7, Boardman 6, Fremont Ross 4, Greenville 2, Upper Arlington 1, Delaware Willis 1, Columbus South ½.

Class B—New London 27, Orange Township 24, Beaver Creek 18, Xenia O. S. and S. O. home 15, Clyde 14, Anderson Township 13, Pleasant Township (Marion county) 13, Marseilles (Wyandot county) 10, Ashville 7, Brookville 7, Canal Winchester 7, Columbus University High 5, Worthington 5, Plainville 4, Green Camp (Marion county) 4, Prospect (Marion county) 2.

Delaware Willis in Class A and Pleasant Township, Marseilles, Prospect and Green Camp in Class B, represented the Marion district in the twelfth annual Ohio Wesleyan relays at Delaware.

Top point total made by any Marion district team was 13 amassed by Pleasant's thinclads. Pleasant tied for sixth place in the B bracket. Marseilles was next in line with 10 markers to come in eighth among the B trackstars while Green Camp scored four points to finish 16th and Prospect, two for 18th spot. Delware nabbed one point and 14th slot in Class A.

Only first won by a near Marion squad was the pole vault which Pleasant copped with a aggregate three-man leap of 28 feet 6 inches. The township cindermen whose combined efforts won first place in this event, were the Curick brothers, Dean and Jim, and J. Thacker.

This Isn't What Fans Go to Park for, Mr. Cox

By The Associated Press

PHILADELPHIA, April 26—William Cox, 41-year-old owner of the Phillies, has announced a plan to help his team open their home season against Brooklyn at Shibe park tomorrow.

He calls it an Australian pursuit race.

For the start, Cox says, all the Phillies will line up at home plate and the Dodgers at second base. At a signal, they all start running the bases, in the usual direction. Anyone who touches passes another. But passed runners depart. And the race ends when only one runner—the winner—is left.

LEADING ISSUES HIGHER TODAY

Many Hit New Tops for Year in Gains of a Point or More.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, April 26—Leading stocks today were given an early push of fractions to a point or so, many to new tops for the year or longer, but there was little follow-through and the market eventually wavered.

The news generally was satisfactorily to bullish contingents although sporadic realizing, particularly in recently buoyant rubbers, acted as a brake on the advance. Selling here and there also was ascribed to apprehension over the coal labor situation.

Railway reorganization bonds improved. Staples were lower.

Stocks touching new 1943 highs—several subsequently faltered—included Erie certificates which started on a 10,000-share block, up a point; Pure Oil, Goodyear, Goodrich, U. S. Rubber, American Telephone and Gimbel.

Talk of resumed or boosted dividends for the railroads, along with benefits which would accrue to the carriers from stabilization of wage and materials costs, again helped the transportation division.

ACTIVITY IS QUIET IN WHEAT TRADING

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, April 26—Action by the Commodity Credit Corp. to control cotton prices, emphasizing the possibility that ceilings eventually may be set on wheat, eased the bread cereal in quiet trading today. Oats and rye also worked lower, but corn held at maximums.

Further inroads into the visible supply of both wheat demand for illustrating the heavy demand for these grains, had no influence on prices. Visible supply of wheat this week was set at 167,136,000 bushels against 193,673,000 bushels a year ago, while corn totaled 30,-203,000 bushels against 58,394,-000 last year.

MINE STRIKE

probably due to the Easter holiday.

John P. Busarello, president of UMW district 5, pessimistic over chances of getting the miners back to work, said:

"The war labor board rendered a decision in this case before it heard the evidence. It more or less publicized the fact that the miners were not going to get a thing. The workesr are getting a raw deal and they know it."

He termed the board "a national cemetery for labor cases—only a short time ago it had 17,000 cases pending."

The strikes, which so far have affected only steel company-owned mines, called "captives," began Wednesday at three operations of the Republic Steel Corp. Union officials said the men objected to a company demand that terms of a wage contract covering a newly-acquired operation be submitted to the war labor board. The company said WLB approval was necessary since the contract called for higher pay for the workers.

Weirton Mine Hit

Thursday night 1,000 employes stopped work at the Isabella mine of the Weirton Steel Co., National Steel Corp. subsidiary.

They said they were protesting the transfer of a worker to another job against his wishes.

Representatives of the 1,000 striking Republic miners flatly rejected appeals to return to work during a meeting yesterday at California, Pa.

Because coal produced by "captive" mines is delivered only to the steel corporations which own the mines, the strike has not affected the general market, supplied by the commercial mines. Steel men say any stoppage of coke products will be felt by the steel industry within a week.

Pitfalls of Love

By ADELE GARRISON

THE COLOR came back to Jack's cheeks with a rush and there was a touch of malice in my satisfaction at seeing him flush. I was baiting him not because I believed the things I was saying, but because I would stop at nothing in my battle to win for Katharine permission to come to him and share his danger.

"You are mistaken in saying that," he said. "Ruth Hayes did not stay in the wilderness on account of me."

"You told me yourself," I said sweetly, "that she made a home in the wilderness for her brother and for you."

"Never for me," he retorted indignantly, "if she did say that, and you have no right to interpret it in that fashion."

"My mistake," I said in a tone that I knew would irritate him further.

Makes Jack Wince

"What are you trying to do, Margaret," he demanded hotly, "put me into losing my temper?"

"Perhaps if you had that," I said, "you might be able to get back the innate sense of justice you used to possess."

He winced perceptibly at that and his quick anger vanished.

"Do you mean," he asked, "that Katharine feels I am being unjust to her, and resents it?"

For an instant I stared at him, wondering at the stupidity of a man when he is trying to interpret a woman's emotions, then took hold of his coat lapels and shook him, wishing that I dared to box his ears.

Appeals for Katharine

"Will you kindly tell me what woman but a spiritless limpet would not resent such treatment?" I demanded. "Remember, Jack Bickett, you didn't marry an oyster or a clam. You married a living, breathing woman with [illegible] and hands to [illegible] and courage not utterly [illegible] shutting her out of your life."

He stared [illegible] "Can't I make you [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] I love you and [illegible] I love you because the deadly danger [illegible] I face?"

Then I played a [illegible] "I suppose you [illegible] have been exposed to [illegible] of danger Ruth Hayes [illegible] fully protecting [illegible]"

He gripped my shoulders [illegible] so tightly that I almost cried out with pain.

"Tell me what you mean, this instant," he demanded.

"Gladly," I told him, "if you'll listen quietly. And I should like to sit down."

"I'm afraid I was rough with you," he said ruefully, as he released my shoulders, "but any thought of danger to Katharine drives me mad. However, I know you must have guarded against it, or you wouldn't be here."

"Yes, he is safe at the hotel," I said, "and my father is there. But he won't be safe long if Ruth Hayes can have her way."

"I thought your father was having that woman tracked," he said. "How is it that she was able to get near Katharine?"

"She didn't get near Katharine," I said. "She did something more deadly."

"What was that?" he asked, as I purposely paused, for I wanted this particular volley to find its mark.

"She went to Hal Meredith," I said.

YOUR HEALTH

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Diseases and Warfare

The other evening I heard a distinguished army medical officer discuss the effect of disease on military campaign. He acknowledged first that war had made a number of contributions to medical science.

We probably would know nothing about the possibility of the complete eradication of typhoid fever had it not been for the fact that all the troops under General Pershing in the Mexican Campaign of 1916 had received preventive vaccination, with the result that no cases of typhoid appeared. If the incidence of typhoid which obtained during the Spanish-American War had occurred in American troops during World War I, there would have been 500,000 deaths, or the loss of nearly twenty divisions at their then strength.

Napoleon's grand army was not defeated so much by the Russians as by typhus fever.

Medicine, of course, has made many contributions to military science—or at least to military efficiency — during the present conflict. Armies in the present conflict have been freer from disease than any armies in history. There is no typhoid fever, no smallpox, no typhus fever and up to now, I believe, no yellow fever.

A story which I have never seen in print is that of sandfly fever. It is spread by an extremely small flea that lives in the sand on tropical beaches. When our troops first bedded down in North Africa, they complained that the mosquito bars were so thick that they kept out air. That was true because they were designed to keep out the sand flea, which will go through ordinary mosquito netting and screening.

Sand-fly fever, or five-day fever, is never fatal but it is extremely prostrating. The medical officer whom I am quoting once had an attack of sandfly fever and he said it was as if he had been hit over the head or slugged and that when he came to about five days later, he did not recall any of the intervening time. It was as if those five days had been cut out of his life.

Military Importance

The military importance of this is that during World War I the British Army started to go up through Bulgaria; the medical authorities not knowing about it, made no provision for the prevention of sandfly fever. The British Army were almost universally attacked and the Bulgarian Army, most of whom had had the disease and were immune, were able to conquer them easily. Medical officers on both sides said it was just as if they had walked over an army of prostrate men.

This will give an idea of the extent to which disease conditions can influence military tactics. If you are inclined to criticize the military conduct of some campaign or other, you might in charity remember that perhaps the difficulty is not entirely military.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

B.B.B.—What are the chances of women with slight heart condition having successful pregnancies — heart murmurs, valvular condition left from rheumatic fever as a child?

Answer: A heart murmur itself is no contraindication to child bearing if the pulse is regular and there is no shortness of breath. It is not unusual for women in this condition to have three or four babies. I have often recited the instance in this column of a woman in this condition who had 13 children.

V. L., Toronto, Ontario—"What causes puffs under the eyes? Is it constitutional, or eyestrain?"

Answer: Puffs under the eyes come from a large number of causes, some of them serious and some of them not. Eyestrain will do it. The urine should be examined.
